

Biography

Leonard has been performing, and receiving awards for his musical talent since a young age. When performing other people's songs could not satisfy him, he started writing his own songs and lyrics. Leonard started the group "Third Party" in the early 90s, and won the Champion of the Inter-School Song Composition Competition. A self-published album with 10 original songs was released shortly before he furthered studies in the States.

Leonard studied composing in Berklee College of Music in Boston opened his eyes to a wide spectrum of music styles. After returning to Hong Kong, he released another album under Sound Factory label.. During the next few years, his group would perform in venues from schools to bars, from Hong Kong to China, and even at the Hong Kong Coliseum.

Work-wise, Leonard joined the music production company Blue Max as a composer / producer. Working under renowned songwriter Mahmood Rumjahn (林慕德), Leonard gained hands-on experience scoring music to videos, and working with clients. He left the company 2 years later to work with his then colleague Peter Kam (金培達) on jingles production. While Peter become increasingly involved in film scoring (and went on to win numerous music awards internationally), Leonard started his own company. For over 2 decades, Leonard has composed over 500 pieces of music, including the "Moments of Love" project for Macau that wins the Platinum Remi Award in 2012 Houston International Film Festival.

The new studio in Fortress Hill was set up in 2019 with professional sound proof and state of the art digital equipment, providing both music composing and audio recording service. Top artists like Joey Yung, Kay Tse, Jan Lamb, Eman Lam, Hanjin Tan, C AllStar, among others have recorded in Leonard's studio.
